

JIM BANKS BIOGRAPHY

Jim Banks is a born and raised Hoosier and the only true conservative running for Indiana's U.S. Senate seat. Since being elected to serve as the representative for Indiana's 3rd congressional district in 2016, Banks has quickly solidified his position as a conservative champion and fierce opponent of Joe Biden's radical agenda. Banks is an active member of the House Armed Services Committee and Committee on Education and Workforce. Banks chaired the Republican Study Committee, Congress's largest conservative caucus, from 2021-23.

Banks is an Afghanistan veteran and took a leave of absence from the Indiana State Senate to deploy during Operations Enduring Freedom and Freedom's Sentinel.

Banks is the son of a factory worker and was the first in his family to go to college, attending Indiana University in Bloomington and later earning a Master of Business Administration from Grace College. He and his wife Amanda are the proud parents to three daughters, Lillian, Elizabeth, and Joann. They attend First Church of God in Columbia City and are honored to serve Northeast Indiana in Washington
